An Old Apportionment.

The last apportionment of the city was made by the city council on the last apportionment of the city was made by the city council on the last apportionment of 1874, but very little. The Second precinct has had its undue proportion of the city's population from the first apportionment. A strong effort was made to have the city reapportioned after the national census of 1896 and many will yet remember what an effort Councilman Oscar Hardy made to have the matter attended to at that time. It was defeated then on the plea that it was not first the property was not of 1895 was made, as the population of the city was rapidly changing and a better basis of division could be obtained on the later date. The state census was taken in 1895, but the city was not reapportioned and the precincts stand now as they were fixed in 1898, with the city was not reapportioned and the precincts stand now as they were fixed in 1898, with the city was not reapportioned and the precincts be made. The ores in the property, which carry values in silver, lead and copper, bring them nearly $39 a ton net, and several shipments have been made during the season.

Another nice lease in which Mr. Hughes, W. H. Dodge and E. A. Higginson are interested, is on the Herrell property. A twenty-ton shipment recently made to this market netted the gentlemen named $44 per ton. They have lots of ore, Mr. Hughes states, that averages forty-five ounces silver and 45 per cent lead, together with some rich streaks that carry hundreds of ounces silver per ton. They expect to do well with their holdings during the next year.

Boston News Bureau: John Hays Hammond's cabled report to London from Denver as to the condition of Stratton's Independence mine has knocked the shares down to £1. Mr. Hammond practically confirms the worst rumors as to the exhaustion of the ore supply. While Mr. Hammond estimates the ore reserves at $2,300,000 Mr. Rickard nearly two years ago made an estimate of $6,712,000.

Pioche Record: Operations in and around Sandy and Good Springs are looking better for the coming winter. At Sandy there are about ten men employed around the mines, and at Good Springs about twelve. It is expected that the Hearst estate will take hold of some of the properties they have bonded and work them this winter, which will give employment to many more men.
